

Julian Yaeger, MPA, ACC

Julian has 10+ years of experience in coaching, teaching, training, organizational effectiveness and change, and leadership development. Julian is also an executive coach and founder of Rise 8, a coaching and consulting company that helps managers and leaders influence the world around them. Julian believes that all people have unlimited potential and that leaders and managers have a unique platform from which they can help unleash that potential. He also believes a world in which more people have unlocked their passion is a brighter, more energetic place for society to thrive.

Julian has worked with leaders in the federal government, nonprofit, and for-profit sectors helping them strengthen their communication skills, bring forth their authentic leadership style, bolster their coaching skills, and deepen their presence.

Relevant Project Experience

Rise 8 Consulting: Worked with the Executive Director of a nonprofit to coach him around several ongoing leadership challenges he was facing. We worked on a variety of topics including communication skills, teambuilding, emotional intelligence, coaching skills, and strategic leadership. As a result of our work together, Alex fostered a more positive relationship with his board, co-created a new vision for the organization with the board, and grew personally in areas of leadership, presence, and effectiveness.

PitchBook Data. Facilitate global corporate university on an ongoing basis. We bring new hires up to speed on the institutional capital flow, equity markets, and the SaaS product itself. Additionally, I coach teams and groups of Subject Matter Experts around career development, facilitation skills, leadership skills, and effective communication and presentation styles and techniques. Work with groups and 1:1 with supervisors, team leads, and managers to help them fully own and embody their leadership roles.

“Julian was incredibly knowledgeable, generous and helpful as we worked together, but what I noticed most about Julian was how open and genuine he is. He built trust quickly and in only a few short months he became a friend, coach and mentor.”
